ALREADY $15,000

Rocks, Tree Limbs, Put Into DC Line

By FRANK LAPIERRE

A childish "prank" already has cost the North County Sanitation District in Daly City more than $15,000, and the figure may top $30,000 before all the damage is repaired, officials feared yesterday.

FUNERAL services were held Monday for Edward R. Libonati, chairman of the Pacific Planning Commission. Libonati was killed March 5 when his automobile ran off the Coast Highway and over a cliff at Devil's Slide. His body was discovered last Wednesday.

Some 20 teen-aged youth decided to pull off the "prank" last Friday noon and began stuffing tree limbs, rocks and rags into the main sewage inflow line located on the south boundary of Westlake Park.

Within minutes the line was choked with debris and began backing up, spewing raw sewage out of a hillside manhole and into Westlake Park.

Raw sewage gushed from the manhole with such force it washed away a sidewalk and a good portion of the sandy hillside.

A sanitation team tried unsuccessfully for more than an hour to unplug the line and finally had to dig into the hillside and break through the pipe to clean out the mess.

Before the first phase of the project was over, some 3 million gallons of raw sewage had flooded the popular playground, flowed past a nearby elementary school and into a storm drain.

Workers then moved to curb any possibility of an outbreak of sickness from the sewage by spraying chemicals over the entire area.

Modified Bus Plan Is OK'd

By VIRGIL WILSON

A master transit plan for San Mateo County that starts with a county-wide bus system and makes provision for more sophisticated transportation facilities in the future, was approved on Monday by directors of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority.

The proposal is a modification of the controversial Plan B bus system given tentative approval by the board last week and differs in that it emphasizes that the bus network would be only a first step leading to a total transit system.

The changes, however, were not enough for three members of the seven-member board: Chairman William R. Lawson and members Michael DeBernardi and Howard Looney. They voted against the modified Plan B proposal, as they did against the straight Plan B proposal last week. Lawson, DeBernardi and Looney favored submitting a complete transit proposal to the electorate, called Plan D. The latter plan calls for extension of the Bay Area Rapid Transit line from Daly City to San Bruno and International Airport and eventual extension of rail transit from San Bruno to Santa Clara County.

A majority of the board, however, voted to stick with an augmented Plan B. One reason given for their stand was a contention that Plan D, because of its enormous cost (estimated at $877 million), would be defeated at the polls and the county would end up with no transit system at all. Another was a claim that Plan D is not flexible enough, either as to routing or as to type of equipment. On the majority side were Jean Fas-

Dispute Over SSF Mayoralty, But Bertucelli Is Re-elected

Another Term Is Opposed By Councilman Mammini

By DON GRIERSON

South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucelli was elected to mayor's seat, then changed his mind.

Mammini, in a statement at the public meeting, said he did not "feel any animosity toward anyone, but I want it made clear that the outcome of this election, insofar as I am concerned, does not constitute a precedent for the future."

He said the city "follows the Roberts' Rules of Order in all other matters, and should follow the rules' suggestion that the mayor's office be rotated each year also."

He noted that Bertucelli and Ahern have held the mayor's seat for the past six years.

"My only interest in the question of who occupies the mayor's position is getting the job done," he said.

At a council study session last week, Ahern said he felt Bertucelli should be reappointed mayor or "to give him an opportunity

$3.5 Million Price

Tag on Huge Pearl

A former $638-a-month prison guard has put up for sale the Pearl of Allah, a 14-pound gem he says is worth $3.5 million.

Wilburn Dowell Cobb, formerly of Daly City said the gnarled, white pearl became his more than 20 years ago after he delivered life-saving medicine to a boy delirious with malaria in the Philippines.

In gratitude the boy's father, Panglima Pisi of Boligay gave Cobb the huge gem which he found in a giant clam in 1934, Cobb said. The clam appeared to be a tridacna.

Cobb said he was told — according to Dyak superstition — that if he did not keep the gift at least 21 years some calamity would befall him, such as the death of his infant son. Many more than 21 years have elapsed.

"I'm 65 this year," said Cobb, until recently a San Quentin employee, "and I want to go back to the Philippines and buy a plantation for some of my old friends who are needy."

A sales representative said the pearl has been appraised at more than $4 million by San Francisco jewel expert Lee Sparrows, who estimated the mass worth $32 per grain.

The salesman said approaches were being made to some wealthy men around the world.

THE 'STATION GAME'

Aces Up Whose Sleeves?

In its years-long battle with the Bay Area Rapid Transit District over an underground station, Daly City has an ace up its sleeve — the parking problem if BARTD were to locate a terminus station anywhere but in San Mateo County.

Thursday, BARTD let it slip that they have been playing the "station game" with Daly City using a stacked deck, and that they, too, have an ace up their sleeve.

The deciding card in whether the 75-mile transit system will ever run its tracks into this North County city is about 15 acres big and is located at the corner of Geneva and Ocean avenues — immediately adjacent to the Balboa Park rapid transit station.

At the present time, the Muni railway parks its buses on the lot, along with streetcars, and a huge maintenance shed.

And if the Muni packs up and moves, BARTD officials will lay all their cards face up on the bargaining table and move into the made-to-order parking site.

BARTD station design consultant W. R. McCutchen explained that the site is "ideal" for what BARTD has in mind, plus the fact it is within the tax-paying districts.

(San Mateo County withdrew from the district several years ago along with Marin County.)

For the past two years Daly City has been at loggerheads with the transit district over station design. BARTD wants to erect either an aerial or "cut" facility. Daly City insists on an underground station along with having BARTD pay for traffic pattern routings and widening of at least one freeway over pass.

McCutchen ventured that BARTD would be "only too glad to give Daly City whatever they present national standard tests utilized in the Daly City elementary schools "do not provide adequate evidence of the student's progress or lack of progress."

In discussing the tests, negotiating council members agreed that the most desirable method would be to develop tests for individual schools within the district "because of the varied eth-

Senior Citizens in DC Tell Trustees They're Fed Up with High Taxes

Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City were introduced to a new breed of militants at last week's Thursday board meeting.

A delegation from the Daly City Senior Citizens Club, headed by Julius Castelan, president of the organization, told the board members in no uncertain terms they are "fed up" with the high taxes which are forcing elderly residents to give up their homes.

Castelan said at least ten members of the senior citizens group have been forced to sell their homes within the past few months, and hundreds of others have been forced to appeal to their children and other relatives to help pay their property taxes.

"When a citizen reaches age 65, many times all he has in the world is his little home and Social Security," he said. "He simply cannot afford to pay $200 to $600 a year in property taxes."

Most of the taxes paid go to support education, Castelan said, and he "demanded" that the board take steps to alleviate the situation.

"We absolutely cannot afford to continue paying for the education of other people's children," Castelan said. "Many of our members have been paying taxes for 50 years or longer, and we feel like we have done our share."

Castelan served notice that the city's elderly residents are "simply not going to stand for being taxed out of our homes."

"The time for a change is now," he said, "and if you don't do something to lower taxes, we are going to seek a referendum."

Castelan said there is a growing movement among the state's senior citizens for such a measure, and cited a demonstration by elderly property owners in Sacramento last month as evidence of the level of dissatisfaction.

The local senior citizens club participated in the Sacramento rally, along with about 600 elderly residents from other areas of the state.

Castelan suggested that the board consider cutting the number of administrative and "auxiliary" employees in the district as a means of reducing costs.

"There are only two things absolutely necessary in the schools—teachers and students," he said.

Board Chairman Ed Tomasello told the senior citizens local officials are doing "everything possible" to keep education costs down.

"The answer to the problem does not lie with the local board, but with the officials in Sacramento," Tomasello said.

He pointed out that local school officials recently participated in a "march" on the capitol in an effort to obtain statewide equalization of school financing, a measure which would reduce the tax burden on property owners in the so-called "low wealth" districts, such as Jefferson Elementary.

nic and cultural make-up of the student population."

Other matters discussed at the negotiating session included a proposal to extend the school year by several days to allow for teacher institutes and other special projects.

Greenwood also presented a proposal reaffirming "the superintendent's prerogative to assign teachers to specific schools within the district."

He said it is necessary to distribute experienced teachers throughout the district, and avoid concentrating the most skilled of the educators in any one school.

"The principals, quite natually, have a tendency to keep the best members of their staffs with them as long as possible," he said. "While this makes the principal's job easier, we do not feel it is the best policy for the district as a whole."

JCTA representatives Jan Beekman and Denis O'Leary agreed that the superintendent should retain the authority to assign teachers throughout the district, but asked that the teachers' preferences be given consideration in any reassignments.

Greenwood and Dr. Vinton Stratton, assistant superintendent for instruction, said this is the present policy in the district, "and it will remain the policy."

a lot," sanitation engineer Robert V. Bernicci explained. "It diluted the sewage and helped wash it away."

The pipe is one of two inflow pipes bringing raw sewage from the community to the treatment plant next to the park. The heavily damaged pipeline carries about 90 percent of all sewage treated, Bernicci said.

Bernicci said a huge "box" will have to be constructed next to the damaged section and inflow diverted until the main line can be repaired.

"We cannot simply shut off the line and repair the damage," he said.

Engineers were still investigating the damage to determine the best way to tackle the problem. The vandals remain unidentified.

Deadline On County Tax

Hard-pressed taxpayers were warned today that another deadline falls due this week: Thursday is the last day to pay county property taxes without penalty.

Tax Collector Ross Conti said today that collections have been unusually slow this period, with less than half the $80 million he is charged with collecting paid so far.

Conti said he expects a big rush in the last two days of the payment period and for that reason urges as many as possible to mail in their payments rather than come to his Redwood City office in person.

S.S.F. Home Is Burned

A wall of a South San Francisco home was charred on Thursday in a blaze that firemen said was caused by a "defective wall heater."

Flame, heat and smoke damage to the A.F. Ventura home at 743 Keats was estimated at $1,000 by fire department officials.

to complete several projects in progress."

Mammimi questioned whether or not he needed to occupy the mayor's office to "get things done."

"It is just a ceremonial position anyway, and he could work just as well as a councilman," he said.

Mammimi proposed that Rocca, the oldest member of the council, be "given a chance as mayor."

At Monday's meeting, Mammimi said he could "continue to work with the other council members," though he still disapproves of the other councilmen's refusal to rotate the mayor's position.

Coast Girl Dies in D.C. Car Mishap

A 16-year-old Pacifica girl died last night at Mary's Help Hospital 13 hours after she was thrown from her car as it overturned on Junipero Serra Freeway after being cut off by another vehicle.

Laura Marie Hagler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hagler, 459 Inverness Drive, Pacifica, an Oceana High School student, died at 11:30 p.m. of her injuries.

The father told Highway Patrolman M. L. Bognan that he was following his daughter, who was driving a compact car, south on the freeway at 10:30 a.m. when another car passed his vehicle and the girl's car on the left about a half mile south of Alemany Boulevard in Daly City.

The third vehicle, a dark blue or black sedan, changed lanes, cutting off his daughter's car, Hagler related. The girl swerved, and the car "started flipping," turning over two or three times and ejecting her, the father said.

Highway patrolmen are investigating in an effort to locate the dark sedan and its driver.

wanted, if they pay the difference" similar to what was done in Berkeley. In that East Bay city the citizens voted to pick up the $5 million difference in what had been planned by BARTD and a subway system.

The same offer has been made repeatedly to Daly City. "I would say that we (BARTD) are prepared to assume reasonable costs for (rerouting) traffic patterns," McCutchen explained.

Daly City has always felt that BARTD could not operate the Mission line effectively without adequate parking spaces at its terminus station. Daly City has space to spare.

Festival At Jeff High Is April 12

Jefferson High School's annual Spring Festival will be on the Daly City campus April 12, with a talent show set for the following day.

Started many years ago, the Festival gives full rein to many creative interests, according to senior Charlie Jolivet, Jefferson culture commissioner.

Featured activities will include a flea market, sponsored by the Executive Board, performances by pep girls, a cafeteria record hop, sponsored by the seniors, a paperback book sale in the library and an apple-bobbing contest staged by the Pow-Wow club.

Modification Of Bus Plan Approved

sler, James V. Fitzgerald, William M. Werder, and Daniel Minto.

The directors were to meet at 4:30 p.m. yesterday to officially adopt a master plan and call an election for June 10. The resolution upon which the master plan is to be based points out that the June 10 election is only for the approval of master plan for a county-wide express and feeder bus system. A subsequent election will be required before any tax money can be committed to the system. Elections will also be required before the second and third stages of the total transit system—the extension to San Bruno and the extension to Santa Clara County—can be implemented.

Chairman Lawson, who had threatened to step down as chairman following the stormy meeting last week, presided as usual over the meeting yesterday and said he would support the decision of the majority.

At the outset of the meeting, a series of letters, all critical of the board for voting for Plan B, was read. One writer pointed out that the board had spent more than $1 million and five years of time in the study that led to the bus system recommendation and asserted that the board had "labored mightily and brought forth a mouse."

It was agreed that the master plan will include these points:

1. The creation of a county-wide bus service supplementing existing commuter transportation services (Southern Pacific and Greyhound) and any future high-capacity rapid transit system shall be implemented as a logical first step.

2. The next logical step is to coordinate planning with San Francisco, including International Airport, and others, leading to provision of adequate mass transportation to the airport.

3. When tentative arrangements for airport service have been refined, they will be presented to the voters for confirmation and inclusion in the master plan at a subsequent election.

4. The need to provide adequate mass transportation to the South County line is recognized, subject to approval of the voters.

5. Voter approval of the master plan shall not be a commitment for the levying of property taxes for general obligation bonds.

6. Financing the transit system shall be developed so as to minimize reliance on the property tax.

No Bus Plan Backing By D.C. Council

Hopes of getting the backing of the county's second largest city for the proposed county-wide bus transit system were dashed during a council study session in Daly City Monday night.

In the absence of Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett, the council nodded in favor of vice mayor Frank Pacelli's suggestion that a request from the San Mateo County Development Association already made our views on the be shelved — indefinitely.

Pacelli said the council "has already made our views on the subject known to our Westbay representative" and that the City Fathers wanted Plan D, a complete system which would include the buses and a rail system.

Jefferson Unit Studying Curriculum and Training

The Jefferson High School District's Socio-Economic Committee—made up of educators from the five Daly City and Pacifica high schools—has formed subcommittees to study three areas of concern.

Laurie Cahill, Norman McDonald, J. Coty and Rudie Tretten were named to a teacher re-education unit.

Don Carlson, Ned Pexton and Joe Conway are studying curriculum, while Emmet Tierney, Barbara Miller and Tretten are assigned to a "community involvement" body.

According to a report to district trustees this week, the subcommittees will meet and prepare specific proposals for further discussion and refinement by the entire committee.

The proposals, when finalized, would form the basis for requests for district implementation.

"Furthermore, the committee agreed that we will seek out funding from various sources for proposals that we develop," the report to trustees explained.

It also was announced that a Pacifica group has requested sensitivity training in the school curriculum and has contacted a representative from the committee, and has arranged for a meeting.

The committee also summed a recent meeting with James Forrest, San Mateo County Human Relations commissioner, who explained.

Forrest, according to the committee's report, noted his principal problem "at the moment" to be detection of difficulties and their extent within the various geographical areas of the county.

"For example, in the south county businesses have contributed large amounts of money (up to $230,000 in one case) and various kinds of training and re-training programs," the report quoted Forrest.

The mid-Peninsula business association is having trouble getting off the ground and programs in the mid and north Peninsula areas are nonexistent.

Another one of Forrest's concerns, it was pointed out, is the area of "institutional relations" within a community.

"Toward this end, he is working on a proposal of retraining of policemen and the establishment of a Bay Area-wide police academy," the report disclosed.

The possibility of development of a program to retrain teachers and counselors—and, for that matter, administrators on up through the superintendent—was discussed with Forrest.

"He was encouraging in this and suggested that our committee devote itself to development of specific problems which we can then work out with him and adopt to get funded. He was not at all pessimistic in regards to funding," a committeeman wrote the board.

Also discussed, the report told, were "lots of little things about the school and the community it serves."

The committeemen, it said, agreed "about the necessity of committee involvement and the development of programs to meet the needs of groups within the total community."

Development of an "integrated education" curriculum also was discussed in the body's meeting with Forrest, who said he thought this "would be a step forward."

Ignores Guns

A Woman Walks Out on Robbers

A woman customer Thursday defied orders and walked out of a San Bruno drug store, leaving behind two astonished and frightened robbers who were holding at gunpoint the woman and three others in the store.

The two bandits—both of whom brandished revolvers, San Bruno police said—apparently were frightened by the unidentified woman's callous disregard for their weapon-power and they left the store without getting a thing.

But, they did caution the other customer, store manager Warren Ross and clerk John M. Exline against following them.

"Whoever sticks his head out, gets it blown off," one of the gunmen declared.

The pair then left on foot. Police said the pair—one described as a male Mexican adult, the other white male adult—entered the store about 8:25 p.m.

One of the bandits approached clerk Exline while the other accosted manager Ross near the front door. Both suspects drew their weapons and demanded the two employees and the two customers "move over here," meaning the center aisle, up front. "We don't want to hurt anybody."

It was at this point the woman customer, said to be about 50 years old, disregarded the demand that she assemble with the others and simply walked out the front door.

S.P. Seeks Relief In Freak Accident

The Southern Pacific Company went to court Wednesday to make sure that it is not held liable for the death of four commuters and injury of 22 others in a freak accident in San Bruno February 10.

Southern Pacific filed suit in Superior Court in Redwood City asking for a declaration that a pipeline contractor and its insurers are responsible for defending against the various claims and lawsuits that have been and will be filed and paying damages that are awarded.

Defendants are ARB Inc. and Alex Robertson Company, sued as the pipeline contractor; Harbor Insurance Company; Pacific Indemnity Company; and Southern Pacific Pipe Lines, Inc.

According to the lawsuit, ARB and the Robertson company had a contract to install a pipeline, most of it in the SP right of way, between Brisbane and International Airport. Workmen were moving two pieces of pipe on the day of the accident when one piece was struck by a passing commuter train and crashed into a passenger car, inflicting the deaths and injuries.

3 Held As Officer Finds Loaded Gun

Three young men were arrested on charges of conspiracy to commit armed robbery in South San Francisco Friday night after a policeman allegedly discovered a stolen license plate, a loaded revolver and three masks in an automobile at the scene of an accident.

Officer Joseph Simpson uncovered the alleged conspiracy at 10:30 p.m. when a car carrying Melvin R. Howard, 21, Loyde Maxation, 22, and James W. Hollis, 20, all of San Francisco, collided with another vehicle on South Spruce Avenue, in front of the Spruce Drive-in Theatre.

According to police reports, one of the occupants of the suspect vehicle removed a black cloth from the license plate of the car as officer Simpson arrived at the accident scene.

Upon searching the vehicle, officers allegedly discovered the gun, masks, and a quantity of marijuana.

In addition to the conspiracy charges, the suspects were also booked for possession of marijuana and automobile theft.

The driver of the other vehicle involved in the accident, Ronald Brusco, 212 Magnolia Avenue, South San Francisco, told police the suspect car, a late model sedan, sped out of a car-wash across the street from the drive-in.

According to Brusco, the driver of the vehicle "didn't even look at the approaching traffic," and crashed into the side of his car.

Police theorized that the suspects intended to hold up the box office at the theater, which has been robbed several times in recent months.

Films About Drug Abuse

The Sly Lyons of Daly City will sponsor the showing publicly of two films on narcotics abuse—"Marijuana" and "LSD-25"—at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Westmoor Little Theatre.

Questions may be posed city, county and state narcotics officers, a club spokesman said.

Daly City Strives To Improve Walks

The big push is on in Daly City for sidewalk improvement. Involved are the various property owners and utility companies, such as Pacific Gas and Electric Company, Pacific Telephone Company and others who are involved in street and sidewalk openings of various types.

The program got off to a flying start last February with the City Council's backing.

City Engineer Arthur W. Reschke reported that already 1400 square feet of defective pavement and driveways are under contract to Love and Haun of San Francisco, paving contractors.

The project is flexible enough to allow property owners to recognize the inherent dangers in front of homes or places of business and make the necessary repairs. The property owner or his contractor simply files a work permit request with the City Engineer's office.

A certain amount of control is exercised by that office in order that the pavement will meet the city's standards as to safety and appearance.

The authority for pursuance of the sidewalk safety program is contained in the various city ordinances and is found in the Daly City Code.

In some locations it is desirable to totally reconstruct sidewalks, curbs and gutters as a block in order to present uniformity of appearance and effect. In these cases the city will coordinate the whole project with the agreement of the affected owners and utility groups.

To date, approximately 1400 square feet of pavement has been authorized for replacement and about half of this work has been completed.

Construction has centered around the Mission Street areas, but it is intended that the entire city will be inspected.

City Manager Edward Frank announced this week that no part of the city would be neglected and that citizens wishing to accelerate the program should call the City Engineer's office and request forms and data.

The system has been simplified to allow for payment at the time of work or the owner may be billed after the work is accomplished. The overall effect of this program should not only be the improvement of the safety conditions of sidewalks, curbs and gutters but also the beautification of the neighborhood to improve the overall appearance of Daly City.

2 Burglaries Reported On Weekend

Two burglaries Saturday were reported in the North County.

A music-minded burglar broke into the Alfred J. Garcia home on Alta Vista Avenue Saturday afternoon and carted off a set of bongo drums and a guitar valued at $327.

In another daylight residential burglary, Irving Lee of Rio Verde Avenue reported to police that cash and jewelry valued at more than $366 had been taken from a bedroom. Entry was gained through a smashed bedroom window.

Nelson Michaud found $250 missing from his service station safe when he opened up shortly before 9 a.m. Sunday.

Michaud, owner of Nelson's Rocket Service at 1095 San Mateo Avenue, San Bruno, said the money had been taken some time between 8 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday.

Alert DC Officer; Loot Recovered

D.C. Policeman Nabs Suspect

An alert off-duty Daly City policeman arrested a suspect in a Serramonte jewelry store shoplift yesterday and recovered some $5,700 worth of watches and diamonds.

Officer Wendall Barnes was having his watch repaired at the Jewel Box inside the Serramonte Shopping Center shortly after 2:30 p.m. when he spotted a man acting suspiciously near one of the diamond counters.

He asked a store clerk to quickly check the counter's contents and inform him if anything was missing. The woman employee said a tray of five watches and two large diamonds had been taken.

Barnes hurried after the man — later identified as Emilio Mendoza, 34, of Los Angeles — and two suspected female accomplices as they left the store heading for the parking lot.

Outside, Barnes stopped one of the women and finding none of the missing jewelry in her purse released her and ran after Mendoza.

He overtook Mendoza as the suspect climbed into a car.

Barnes was unable to find any of the stolen gems or watches on the suspect.

While questioning Mendoza, three boys told the officer they watched the suspect throw the watches and jewels under a nearby parked car.

The loot was recovered and returned to the store.

Mendoza was booked at City Jail and the two women have not been found, police report.

Herd of Deer Pinned In Vanishing SSF Grove

By DON GRIERSON

The plight of a small herd of deer trapped between a housing development and a freeway in South San Francisco's Westborough area has been brought to the attention of several conservation agencies through the efforts of an 11-year-old boy who lives across the street from the wooded plot.

Dominic Foti, of 2207 Delvin Way, wrote a letter to local newspapers several months ago telling of the trapped animals, and said, "I think most people don't know they are trying to live and survive in just a small area."

"These deer are surrounded by houses that will soon be on their land. There is a freeway on the other side, and sooner or later I think the deer are going to jump out onto the freeway and get killed."

"I would appreciate prompt attention to this matter," Dominic concluded.

His letter came to the attention of Daly City conservationist Mrs. Reva Krips, who has appealed to the Humane Society and the California Department of Fish and Game to help the animals.

But the area in which they are located, a 40-acre grove of eucalyptus, does not lend itself to use of the tranquilizer gun, according to fish and game experts.

Willard Greenwald, regional manager for the Department of Fish and Game, said it is necessary to get within 50 feet of a deer in order to use the tranquilizer gun, and this is not possible in the area in question.

"They have used the gun with a good bit of success in Marin County, where deer frequently come into gardens and lawns, but we have a different situation in Westborough."

Greenwald said he has visited the area several times, and believes there are presently "five or six deer" trapped in the grove.

While it is possible the deer could be killed on the freeway, they could also escape to another nearby wooded area when

11-YEAR-OLD Dominic Foti of South San Francisco surveys the rapidly diminishing "home" of a small herd of deer across the street from his family's home in Westborough. Dominic has enlisted the aid of the Department of Fish and Game and the Humane Society in his efforts to save the animals from the encroachment of civilization, but, so far, no way has been found to relocate the deer. (Post Photo) housing development moves into the grove, he said.

"To do this, they would have to cross several lawns, but deer have been known to cross lawns in the past," he said.

He said the situation is "in no way unique."

"They have good cover there, and there is apparently an adequate amount of water. If they want to get out, they can do it."

"If there was anything further we could do for the animals, we would do it," Greenwald said.

He said the department had a "tranquilizing expert" from the Marin Humane Society survey the situation, and he agreed it would be "difficult or impossible" to relocate the deer.

Meanwhile, for better or worse, the deer have a friend in the neighborhood, and Dominic continues his surveillance of the situation.

He said this week he believes there are eight of the animals remaining in the area, though he has never seen more than two together at a given time.

As for getting close to the deer, Dominic said he has "almost touched them" on some occasions.

"I was sitting in the bottom of a ravine once, and a deer jumped over my head," he said.

D.C. Worker Flees Guards

Walter Kevin Crane, 22-year-old warehouseman of 245 South Market Street, Daly City, escaped from custody of a sheriff's deputy at County General Hospital in San Mateo Thursday.

Crane had been taken to the hospital for a check-up from county jail, where he was being held awaiting arraignment on a burglary charge April 14.

Deputy V. Ferretti said he left Crane in a waiting room with another prisoner while he was getting a prescription filled. When he returned, Crane was gone.

The other prisoner, Ferretti reported, said that Crane had merely arose from his seat, walked toward a window and then bolted for a side door.

Colma Creek Flood Plan Is Debated

The possibility of activating the long-dormant Colma Creek flood control project is scheduled for discussion at a meeting called for 2 p.m. April 25 in the city council chambers in South San Francisco.

Notices have been put out to all cities in the Colma Creek basin — Pacifica, Colma, Daly City, San Bruno and South San Francisco. Col. Frank C. Boerger, district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, is scheduled to be present, as are representatives of other organizations, including the U. S. Geological Survey.

The Colma Creek Flood Control Zone was formed by the County Board of Supervisors in 1964. It was contemplated that flood control facilities would be constructed by the Corps of Engineers. The Corps has held off, however, because of a severe silting problem that it contends is the responsibility of the local jurisdictions to correct.

The Board of Supervisors, at the request of the city council of South San Francisco, scheduled the April 25 meeting to try to persuade the Corps that the silting problem can be handled and the flood control work should proceed.

D.C. Police Arrest Four After a Tip

Four San Francisco youths were arrested on Friday after Daly City police received a tip they were stripping a sports car in the 400 block of Hanover Street.

The youths — including two juveniles — had left the scene by the time police arrived and a roadblock was quickly set up at the corner of Whittier and Mission streets.

A car matching the description of the suspect vehicle was spotted parked in a Mission street service station a short time later by a patrolman. Inside the car, police allegedly found a quantity of marijuana and unknown pills wrapped in a plastic bag. In the trunk, parts from the stolen sports car were also found, a spokesman said.

Arrested at the scene were Juan Lopez, 20, of 120 Whittier Street, San Francisco, Frank Freyets, 18, of 3153 Twenty-fourth Street, San Francisco and the two juveniles.

Burglars In Three Homes In San Bruno

San Bruno was hit by three residential burglaries along the same quiet street within hours of each other Friday.

Police suspect all three were committed by the same gang.

The first report was received shortly after noon from Anita Borrelli who reported her Crestmoor Drive home had been ransacked and jewelry and cash, valued at some $185, had been stolen.

As investigators searched the neighborhood, they found the next door home of Donald Miner had also been ransacked and burglarized. No loss could be determined until Miner returns from a trip from Los Angeles, police said.

A further search revealed the Crestmoor Drive home of Ralph Phillips, who was spending the Easter weekend in Fresno, was also ransacked.

In all cases, entry was made by smashing through a rear door, police said.

D.C. Has Own 'Wrong Way Corrigan' in Car

Daly City has its very own "Wrong Way Corrigan."

He doesn't fly across oceans, he drives through streetcar tunnels—the wrong way.

A young man identified as Larry Dale Karnes, 28, was arrested by San Francisco police as he emerged from the West Portal side of the Twin Peaks tunnel early Wednesday and was booked for drunk driving.

A group of maintenance men told police a car driven by Karnes was coming thumping its way through the lengthy tunnel while they were working on a stretch of track at the midway point.

They succeeded in stopping the car after sounding a loud blast on an emergency whistle installed on a repair streetcar.

The workers escorted Karnes out of the tunnel into the waiting arms of police.

Police said Karnes was apparently not aware he was driving through the tunnel until he was stopped.

AWARD WINNING SMILES OF WELCOME—From Cap Band majorettes, l. to r., Nancy Hippely, Carol Hirozawa and Becky Heuton to join them at the Capuchino High School April 18 and 19 with Cap Band will present the annual Spring Concert on stage at 8 p.m. Joining the girls in specialty dance and twirling routines will be the fourth majorette Sue Greenleaf not pictured here. Another special feature at this year's band concert will be the premiere showing of new band uniforms, both tuxedo and marching style. Uniforms have been the main project of Cap Band Boosters over the past 20 months and the $12,500 price tag has almost been reached. Hopefully the concert proceeds will cover the small remaining deficit. Ralph Brendberg, music director, promises an unusually versatile program of concert and marching music for this year's band performance and issues a special invitation to all to attend.

San Bruno Majorette Wins Award

Bringing home two more trophies last weekend was Becky Heuton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvn Heuton of Parkview Drive, San Bruno.

Becky, head majorette with the Capuchino High marching band, competed and won first place in strutting and first in senior division solo twirling at the Sparkler Drum and Bugle Corps statewide competition in Mountain View.

She adds these honors to the sweepstakes prize she won two weeks ago in the U.S. Twirling Championships held in Monterey. This was the third of eight such tournaments in preparation for the state competition in May.

Miss Heuton adds these awards to the more than 400 she has won over the past few years. A sophomore at Capuchino High, she was twirling before she joined Cap's championship band last year. In 1965 she held the state strutting title and she was chosen as a Raider Girl by the Oakland team last fall. She joins 39 girls as a line captain and will perform before each Oakland Raider home game next year.

Her next big performance will be a solo spectacular with Cap Band when they entertain in concert Friday and Saturday, April 18 and 19 in Cap High auditorium. Becky is one of the band's greatest boosters and has helped in every fund-raising effort over the past 20 months in order that the Cap Band Boosters could raise the $12,500 needed for new band uniforms. The new uniforms have been ordered and will be premiered at

BURGLARY

Helen Graniss reported to San Bruno police Friday that her Fourth Avenue home had been broken into and a portable television set, coats and wigs, valued at some $341, were stolen.

Major Community Blood Drive Set

A major community blood drive is planned for the Daly City-Colma area April 19, under the coordination of the Jefferson Council of P-TAs.

Mrs. Peter O'Neill and Mrs. Joseph Kaplan, co-chairmen, plan to combine a number of individual group blood banks into one expanded community fund. "The blood you give could help you live," according to the co-chairmen, and the community blood fund will be available without charge to everyone in the area.

The mobile blood unit from the Peninsula Memorial Blood Bank will be set up to receive donations on April 19, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., on the second floor, Montgomery Ward's, in the Serramonte Shopping Center.

Campfire Girls will provide free baby-sitting for donors and local P-TAs will provide free coffee and snacks.

A number of local organizations and business groups have already signed up to participate in the blood drive. They include Skyline of Daly City, CTA, Holy Angels Church, municipal employees of Daly City, Hope Lutheran Church, Daly City Fire Department, Our Lady of Mercy Church, Daly City Police Department, Daly City Host Lions, Jefferson Elementary School, classified employees, San Francisco Jeeps, YWCA of North San Mateo County, and the Jefferson Council of P-TAs.

Who can donate blood? Anyone between 18 and 61 years of age, and in good health. Donors should take only fruit juices, black coffee or tea, crackers or toast (no butter), fruit and leafy vegetables during the four hours before donating blood.

Prospective donors with a history of the following are not accepted: infectious hepatitis, tuberculosis, diabetes, recurrent malaria, syphilis, heart condition, any surgery within six months, childbirth within six months, cold within two weeks, penicillin reaction within six months, less than 12 weeks between donations, any malignancy other than skin cancer.

The Peninsula Memorial Blood Bank now collects, processes and stores blood for use throughout San Mateo County. Besides making blood available to residents of the community, a record will be kept for each donor. A donor's credits may be transferred at his request to anyone in the United States. Replacements are encouraged whenever possible when credits are used.

For additional information about the community blood drive contact Mrs. Peter O'Neill, 287 Second Avenue, Colma.

Microwave Network Planned, Bids Sought

A far-reaching microwaving network that will tie together all of the communities of San Mateo County for general law enforcement and in times of disaster and emergency won approval of the Board of Supervisors last week.

They authorized a call for bids May 6 at 2 p.m. for a $300,000 automated telecommunications system that will bring this about.

Estimated cost of the total system is to be funded three ways by the County, the federal-assisted Area Disaster Council, and the 18 cities.

"When this new system is operating, we will have radio communications that will be far superior to those of any county in California," Henry Tarratt, building construction director, told the board members.

"Just three years ago, Redwood City couldn't speak to Menlo Park or Pacifica to Daly City," Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, area disaster chief, pointed out.

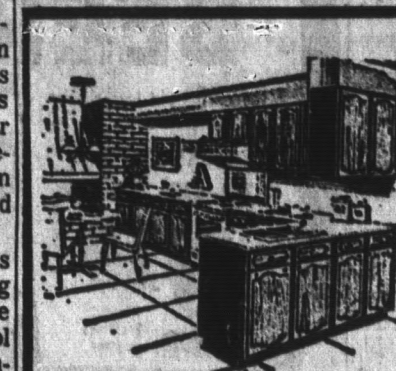

"This supplemental equipment will change that, and allow communication with each police and fire unit as well as with each patrol car," he said. Tarratt also explained that there is an October 1 deadline set by the California Department of Justice for counties and cities to switch to high-speed teletype equipment in order to become a part of the new CLETS system.

This is the California Law Enforcement Telecommunication System which allows agencies access into state computer files on stolen vehicles, firearms, car registrations and driver records, and the FBI files on guns, property, vehicles and wanted persons.

Currently 17 of the 18 cities already belong to the existing network operating out of the County Communications Control Center, and Hillsborough has indicated it would like to become a member of the microwave network at a cost of $14,000, Tarratt said.

Addition of the new equipment, including extension of a teletypewriter terminal to each city, would join all the cities and the county via microwave and eliminate existing land lines, Tarratt said.

"All member cities in the system would participate in the cost of the part of the microwave system that pertains to civil defense and disaster activities," Tarratt told the board. Tarratt presented an alternative to the board which would have involved the leasing of the equipment from the telephone company over a ten-year period at $500-$670,000, almost twice the cost of the cost.

D.C. Fathers Assisting In School Drive

More than hundreds and thousands are changing at Mercy High School, San Francisco, these days. Expansion of educational units housing electronic teaching tools, a multi-media library for research and individual study, a flexible auditorium complex focusing on the fine arts, and a weather-protected physical education compound have progressed beyond the drafting board into the fundraising stage.

Both adults and students are assisting in the program. Chairman of the $1 million campaign for the five-point building program is Donal P. Cummins, assistant fire department chief of the San Francisco Fire College. Fathers manning the Daily City division include:

Rene Chevez, 448 Abbott Avenue; Charles Stuhler, 173 Del Prado Drive; Robert Eider, Dorchester Drive; Sherrill Houghton, 18 Westlake Avenue; Rodney Nessler, 6 Wilshire Avenue; Robert Cremen, 32 Lakemount Drive; Walter Dorn, 118 Garden Lane; Raymond De Bucchia, 179 South Mayfair Avenue; William McCabe, 1783 Eucalyptus Drive and Emilio Degado, 1759 Sweetwood Drive.

Daily City students who helped raise $1000 March 18 at the all-student bazaar, "California Soul" held on campus included Susan Beck and Christine Dahl. These funds will be used for school equipment chosen by the students.

The accredited high school serving more than 800 girls was

Film Festival Awards Given At Westmoor

Westmoor student film producers will soon gain further experience in the various fields of photography, having been awarded recognition for their experimental efforts displayed at Westmoor's First Annual Film Festival, held recently.

Sophomore Jim Musslewhite, for his visual narrative of Simon and Garfunkle's "Homeward Bound," was awarded first place. This win will enable him to aid in filming a television special concerning the world of motorcycles and motorcyclists with independent photographer Robert Gunther.

Student filmers of five films will spend one day exploring the operations of a television studio, ranging from news calls to editing. Local stations of KTVU, KRON, KPIX, KGO, and Channel 44 will be visited by the award-winning students.

Steve Minkin, for his impressionistic film involving special effects; Sam Skootsky, for "Shopping Cart," a humorous, anticlimactic film Charlie Frieberg, for directing and filming a scene from Albert Camus' novel "The Stranger"; Greg Flurio for recording the actual search techniques of policemen; and Mike Nicholson, Dave Bacon, and Dave Long for "Mission: Impossible," a humorous take-off of the television series, "Mission: Impossible," received the awards.

Westside Baptist Church Is 8 Years Old This Month

Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship hour of the Westside Baptist Church, Inverness Drive and Hickey Boulevard, Pacifica, the Ladies Sextet of Simpson Bible presented sacred concerts in churches in Northern and Southern California this year.

At this service, Pastor A. David Donnelly will speak on the topic, "Purposeful Salvation."

During the adult worship hour, a primary church service is conducted weekly for boys and girls four through seven years of age. Also, a nursery is maintained for babies and toddlers.

Fifteen classes meet at the 9:45 a.m. Sunday School Hour. The emphasis is on the entire family being in Sunday School, and three adult classes meet each Sunday morning.

Sunday, at 4 p.m., the annual business meeting of the church will be conducted. Various committees and boards will bring their reports, along with the reports by the financial secretary and the church treasurer.

Reports will be received also from the Sunday School Superintendent, and the Capital Funds Committee. There will be a further progress report concerning building plans. Following these reports, there will be the annual election of officers, board and committee members, and the adoption of the budget for the year 1969-1970.

Following the business portion of the meeting, there will be a buffet supper, and closing the evening with a brief devotional period.

Westside Baptist Church is beginning its eighth year as an organized Baptist Church, having been organized the first Sunday of April, 1962 with 18 charter members. It is affiliated with the Baptist General Conference and the Northern California Baptist Conference. The Executive Secretary of the District Conference, Rev. Rodger Goodman of San Jose, was the organizing pastor, and served the church until Reverend Donnelly was called in May of 1962.

On April 11 the annual Men's Brotherhood Retreat of Northern California Conference Men opens at Mission Springs Conference grounds, in Santa Cruz. Each year a number of men from Westside Baptist avail themselves of this opportunity for fellowship with other Conference Baptist Men.

Wednesday at 7 p.m., is the regular monthly visitation night for all Sunday School teachers and church visitors.

At 8:30 p.m., the visitors will gather at the church parsonage, 3370 Longview Drive, San Bruno, for a time of praise and prayer.

Tuesday, April 15 at 7 p.m., Junior Girl's Missionary Guild will meet at 428 Glasgow, Pacifica. At the same hour, the Junior High G.M.G. is to meet at 18 Eastridge Circle, Pacifica.

Westlake's Coloring Winners

From more than 12,000 Easter Bunny Coloring Contest entries which were submitted (in person) to Westlake Shopping Center last week, 50 happy boys and girls (ages two to 10) have been adjudged winners and today are recipients of shiny, new bicycles.

Contest closed last Saturday at 2 o'clock and the judges (art students from neighboring colleges and universities) worked the weekend through to determine the best from the deluge of entries.

Winners were selected in three age groups — two to four years, five to seven, and eight to 10 years of age. And, according to Gene Perry, advertising-promotion manager of The Center, the contest proved one of the most successful ever attempted at Westlake.

Winning drawings are now on display at Westlake's J. C. Penney store.

The contest and official entry matter ran for two weeks in The Post, the San Mateo Times, and other newspapers.

Children were allowed to color with any media they so desired. Following are the lucky boys and girls who are riding new bikes for submitting prize drawings:

Hippie-Type Gets Purse

A youth grabbed the purse out of the hands of a woman shopper in the Skyline Plaza area of Daly City Thursday and fled the scene on foot.

Lucille Garcia, of Eastwood Avenue, Daly City, told police the "hippie-type" youth snatched her black leather purse out of her hands before she fully realized what had happened. The purse contained an assortment of credit cards and some $18 in cash.

Officer Bill Moller later stopped a youth resembling the description of the pursnatcher in the same area and questioned him.

He was later cleared of the pursnatcher charge, but booked into city jail for possession of dangerous drugs when a small quantity of suspected LSD pills

A Regional Police Unit Is Studied

A regional police force to deal with riots and disorders is proposed to the Association of Bay Area Governments and the California Council on Criminal Justice, in a report currently being studied.

The "Program Design for Criminal Justice Planning," to be discussed at ABAG's April 17 session in Berkeley, offers several other proposals, also.

Terry A. Francois, San Francisco Supervisor, is chairman of ABAG's Criminal Justice Advisory Board, which has submitted the half-inch-thick report.

Basically, the report is an outline of the kinds of information about police, courts, prisons, probation departments, and similar activities, that are needed before planning for any future changes can be made.

At the end, are descriptions of eight projects for further study, which could be conducted cost a total of $4,404,619.

Schools Consultant Trustee Candidate

Dr. Robert Craig, an associate professor of design and industry at San Francisco State College and an internationally known education consultant, is a candidate for the South San Francisco Unified School District Board of Trustees.

Dr. Craig, 41, holds a bachelor's degree from the University of California at Santa Barbara, a master's degree from San Francisco State College, and a doctorate from Southern University in Florida.

He was awarded a National Science Foundation Scholarship in physics at UCLA in 1962, and has had varied experience in counseling at the high school and adult levels.

He taught school at the secondary level for 12 years.

Dr. Craig has pledged to work for a more open policy in running the district schools, and "better communication between the district and the community."

"I feel that elected public servants have a duty and an obligation to let the public know precisely what they are doing," he said.

"Frankly, I feel the present board members allow Superintendent Paul Nielsen too much autonomy in his handling of district affairs, and there is too little public discussion and debate on policy matters," Dr. Craig said.

He also said he will strive for a more flexible student grouping system in the district.

"In spite of the district's advantageous financial position, we are not doing enough for some of our students, particularly those from Spanish-speaking families," he said.

"I believe the homogeneous grouping system, now standard throughout the district, should be made more flexible in order to meet the special needs of students at the individual schools."

While a faculty member of DeAnza High School in Richmond, Dr. Craig was a member of the original team that developed the nationally known curriculum program in pre-technological education for underachieving students—the "Richmond Plan." The basic concepts of the "Richmond Plan" were responsible for the funding of a $450,000 grant from the Ford Foundation, which established the San Francisco State College Center for Technological Education as a pilot study.

Dr. Craig has contributed greatly toward the initiation of similar programs throughout the United States and has assisted many schools and school districts in obtaining funds for program implementation.

He is active in the California Industrial Education Association and held the offices of vice-president, president-elect and president of the Bay Section from 1961 to 1964. He is also a member of the American Industrial Arts Association, Phi Delta Kappa, and Epsilon Pi Tau.

Dr. Craig was selected as a member of the California State Chamber of Commerce Education Committee and has served on the committee since its inception. He has also been working with the State Legislature in the development of credentialing and legislative acts dealing with education for the entire State of California. In addition, he is an advisor on the designing of specialized facilities for educational purposes.

Dr. Craig was recently selected by the California State Board of Education to serve a four-year term on the Professional Standards Commission.

He is also involved in international consultancies on curriculum development, and has assisted education leaders from eight foreign countries.

He is the associate director at the center for Technological Education at San Francisco State College and is advisor to each of the 40 ongoing pre-technological programs in California.

In his duties at the Center, he works with public school superintendents and principals in assisting their staffs to develop interdisciplinary programs in technological fields.

TN's Burgess Impresses Pro Scouts

Professional baseball scouts all came to watch Novato's ace pitcher Russ Dillon toil Wednesday but left the Terra Nova Invitational Tournament marveling at the antics of the Tigers' own number one, John Burgess.

Burgess and Dillon hooked up in a classic pitching duel with the former coming out on top of a 2-0 decision advancing the Tigers to the tourney finals this Saturday against either Lincoln of San Francisco or Capuchino High School.

Wednesday's only other game saw Hillsdale rout Crestmoor, 8-3. The Lincoln-Cap game and the Serra-Oceanica encounter, both afternoon affairs, were rained out before they could begin. Weather permitting, the Cap game was scheduled for this morning while Serra will try to play Saturday.

Downing, who already has a no-hitter to his credit this year, fired his fast ball with pin-point accuracy as he struck out 10 and walked just one batter while giving up four harmless hits. Dillon, possessor of a variety of deliveries, struck out nine, walked a pair and gave up four hits.

Terra Nova got the only run it needed in the first inning when Bill Downing singled, stole second and was doubled home by catcher Mike Rawlings. Rawlings' 380-foot blast came within inches of being out of Oceanica's park.

The Tigers added one more in the second when Greg Lynch doubled and scored on two infield outs. Both pitchers matched goose eggs from then on.

Hillsdale's Abe Schaffer had momentary problems but was still the master as the Knights bested the Falcons. Striking out four and walking a similar number, Schaffer was touched for three runs in the fifth but pitched scoreless ball the other six frames.

Pete Kaine's triple drove in two runs in the first inning and Bob Hero's single scored Kaine as the Knights scored early off starter and loser Dave Raymond. Hero's three singles, one in the first, fifth and seventh, drove in three runs.

About Abner

Now that baseball season's opened, what better week to debunk Abner Doubleday. You've heard of him. He's credited with suddenly inventing baseball in the year 1839 at Cooperstown, N.Y. Actually, Doubleday probably never played the game (there's no historical evidence that he was even athletically inclined), baseball was an established sport long before 1839, and there's pretty sound evidence that nobody in Cooperstown ever saw a baseball until the Civil War... and maybe not even for years after it.

While the legend of Abner Doubleday can't quite be classified a hoax — simply because the people who perpetrated it actually talked themselves into believing the whole thing — it can be called a bad idea conjured by desperate men which perhaps even more desperate men are now stuck with.

It all began in the mid-1930s when baseball executives began looking for a way to jack up dwindling attendance and somebody came up, miraculously, with a forgotten 1907 "report" on the origin of the game by one A. G. Mills. It was this report which accredited Doubleday, 1839, and Cooperstown. Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis and his executives looked at the manna from heaven and began planning a baseball centennial for 1939, and, of course, the establishment of the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown.

As later investigation uncovered, however (AFTER the centennial), the Mills report was almost thoroughly fiction.

What had brought about the report was a friendly feud between two eventual Hall of Famers, A. G. Spalding (famed early day baseball player, founder of Spalding sporting goods, the Spalding Guide, etc. etc.) and Henry Chadwick (America's first baseball writer, originator of the scoring system, compiler of the first rule book... and, ironically, editor of the Spalding Official Baseball Guide).

Around the turn of the century Spalding became curious about baseball's origins. His Spalding Guide editor, Chadwick, told him it was nothing more than the American adoption of the English game of "rounders." Spalding, American to the core (Chadwick was British), insisted it was purely an American game. The verbal battles soon turned to published battles, and eventually two camps emerged, the Spalding people and the Chadwick people. Spalding finally suggested that an unbiased committee be established to probe the mystery, and that he would accept whatever conclusions they came to. Chadwick agreed, and in 1907 a seven-man commission was named. One of the members of the commission was A. G. Mills, who had been third president of the National League, and who was named chairman of the committee.

Well, committees being what they are, no matter what the era, this one began dragging its heels. The members weren't being paid, they were busy men, and besides, they decided that there was no reason for them going out of their way to settle a personal dispute between Spalding and Chadwick. Spalding and Chadwick became restless and began pressing Mills, as chairman, for some answers.

Finally, on December 30, 1907, Mills submitted a report which he alone had written up, and which was signed by him and no other members of the committee, who didn't want to have anything to do with it.

What the report said, essentially, was that Doubleday (a West Point graduate and the Captain of Artillery who sighted the first gun fired on the Union side at Fort Sumter) invented baseball in 1839 at Cooperstown. Mills cited as his primary evidence a diagram of a baseball field and position of the players which had supposedly been drawn by Doubleday's own hand.

To make a long, complicated explanation less long and complicated: It turned out that Mills had been a personal friend of Doubleday's for more than 30 years (Some believed he was a relative, possibly even a brother-in-law); the Doubleday diagram existed only in the mind of someone Mills identified only as a "reputable gentleman," (the first known, existing diagram was drawn by Alexander Cartwright in 1845-46); even though Mills had known Doubleday he offered no direct quotes from Abner about baseball, nor did he even mention ever having seen Doubleday play the game; even though Doubleday retired from the Army into a writing career, there is no evidence that in any of his numerous magazine articles he ever mentioned baseball; nothing during his lifetime was written about Doubleday concerning baseball; nobody from Cooperstown had ever heard of Doubleday playing the game, nor was anything ever written in that village about Doubleday and the game; neither Spalding nor Chadwick, considered at the time to be the two most knowledgeable baseball men in the world, had ever heard of Doubleday or Cooperstown... there's more, but need we write more?

The reason why neither Spalding nor Chadwick ever refuted the report was because they were honor-bound to accept the findings of the commission, as per their agreement.

But in 1910 Spalding wrote a book on baseball, "The National Game," and in it he said of the Mills report:

"I have no intention in this work of reopening a discussion which waxed so warm a short time ago, as to the origin of the game. It would be an act of disloyalty to the Commission that was appointed at my suggestion in 1907, with instructions to consider all available evidence and decide the case upon its merits, were I ever again to enter upon details of that vexed controversy."

What it all really amounted to then, as now, fans, is that nobody could really pinpoint the origin of baseball, although a mass of evidence exists which indicates that the game was played in one form or another many years before 1839.

About the only sure thing is that Major General Abner Doubleday was in command of the Union army at the close of the first day's fight in the battle of Gettysburg, and unless the Reds and the Yanks were throwing baseballs at each other, that may be old Abner's only real historical distinction.

SSF Ousted From Own Tournament!

The rains didn't come quite soon enough for the South San Francisco Warriors, who were knocked from the championship bracket of their own Easter Invitational Tournament Wednesday by the strong right arm of Richmond's Daniel Dickens.

The fast-balling junior fired a no-hitter at the South City nine as Richmond registered a 3-1 decision and earned a spot in Saturday's title game. The other winner's bracket game between Terra Linda and Sacred Heart was rained out in the first inning and, weather permitting, had been rescheduled for this morning.

Dickens' masterpiece earned him seven strikeouts while he walked four. The only run he allowed was unearned. The Warriors took a lead in the first when Lory Bernardini was hit by a pitch, catcher Brad Brian walked and third baseman Steve Pennington's infield bunt went for a two-base error that scored Bernardini.

Centerfielder James Juniel slammed out a 340-foot home run in the sixth inning with Bob Burger, who had walked, aboard to put the winners ahead to stay.

In Friday's games, Balboa scored an 8-4 triumph over El Camino for the consolation title while Berkeley won, 5-2.

Righthander Rich Crumpton was the victim of the Richmond blanking as he pitched creditably striking out and walking three each. He allowed just two hits in six innings.

Saturday the Warriors play the loser of the Terra Linda-Sacred Heart game for third place at 11 a.m.

Balboa took consolation honors and Berkeley beat St. Ignace for seventh place, but the other drama in the South San Francisco baseball tournament has been delayed one week by rain.

LIONS' TOURNNEY

Burlingame Wins Event in Daly City

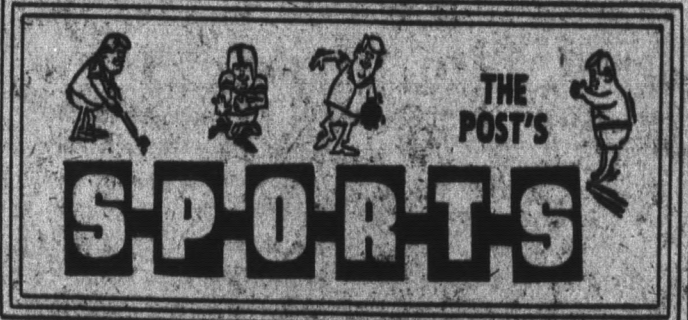

Soggy Burlingame High School sloshed its way past equally moist Westmoor High School Wednesday at Marchbank Field to win the first annual Daly City Lions' Invitational Baseball Tournament.

The Panthers exploded for seven runs in the second inning and held on to win a rain-shortened 8-4 verdict despite being outthit by the Rams, 11-8.

All-in-all, it was an offensive-minded tournament, 13 home runs being smashed, as indicated by the final day's scores. Jefferson won third place with an 8-3 win over Polytechnic. Mills blasted forth to take an 8-5 verdict from Rialto for fifth place, while San Mateo finally out loose against Lowell to win seventh place, 10-4.

Westmoor's Steve Roche, who struck out 13 Poly batters in the second round, was named the tourney's Most Valuable Player, heading the list of ten All-Tourney selections.

Burlingame scored in the second and when Pete Rupert walked and was doubled home by Steve Luchessi. Then the flood: this time of runs, came in the second frame.

Tom Batter singled, Mike Hanchey got on via an error, Rupert singled Batter in and Luchessi loaded the bats when his ball was dropped for another misplay. Skip Conley then drove in two with a single before Bob Davis walked ahead of a grand-slam home run by third baseman Paul Schmuck. Doug Matgen doubled in two Westmoor runs in the third and Joel Carrara homered in the sixth but by then it was too late. Jefferson ripped out 15 base hits, setting a bat record for the tourney with Ken Reitz, Tony Moss and Nick Gentile leading the parade. Three Jeff hurlers saw action with Gentile picking up his second win of the tourney.

Show on Narcotics Set in Daly City

A special showing of "Narcotics and Its Use" for concerned parents is planned by the Sky Lions of Daly City on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Westmoor High School Little Theater.

The Sky Lions hope to give parents some insight into the reasons for the turning to drugs by young people as a "release" from their frustrations. Following the showing of the films a panel of experts from the city, county and state narcotics bureaus will be present to answer questions, and discuss the various aspects of the narcotics problem.

There will be a complete exhibit to help parents recognize the different kinds of narcotics used by young people.

During this week the Sky Lions will be devoting time to the education of both high school students and their parents on narcotics. There will be two films shown to the entire student body at Jefferson High School showing in detail the reality of what narcotics are, the effects they have on users, and the very real dangers involved. They will also point out how very "short-lived" the escape from reality can be for the user.

The Family Fashion Fair, the fund-raising project of the North County Auxiliary to the Family Service Agency, opened their doors yesterday morning for a clearance sale.

The sale is daily at 10 a.m. at the resale shop, 364 El Camino Real, San Bruno, and items will include clothing, cleaned and in good condition, linens, draperies and household merchandise, all for sale at one-half price. The store is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

All proceeds from the sale will go to further the work of the Burlingame office of the Family Service Agency. The Burlingame office, 1870 El Camino Real, is one of more than 300 FSA offices in the country and is a member of the United Crusade.

The FSA is non-sectarian and provides confidential counseling for those who need help in solving family and personal problems. It also offers family group counseling and therapy to emotionally disturbed students in high school in hopes of preventing drop-outs. Fees are based on the family's ability to pay.

The Family Fashion Fair is staffed by volunteer workers, members of the North County Auxiliary, and all merchandise is donated. Donors received income tax deductions for items given. There is a continuing need for saleable merchandise.

Mrs. Thomas Pokorny is chairman, and Mrs. Vincent DeRosa, auxiliary president, is store treasurer. The next meeting of the auxiliary is slated for May 19 at which time election and installation of officers will take place.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By DONALD C. WAITE
START WITH YOUR FAVORITE COLOR

Everyone has a favorite color or colors — just as most of us have certain colors which we do not like.

This is reflected in the clothes you wear and is even of greater importance in furnishing your home.

If your favorite color is green, you have selected an almost perfect color to enhance any other you may wish to use.

Just as nature uses vast expanses of green to show off the myriad tones of blossoms, so you can use green to complement or contrast with many other colors.

The warm tones of melon — that between-orange-and-red color — are often preferred by outgoing people. These are the exciting colors used with restraint.

If your room is dark you can afford to be a little more bold with melon. If your room is light and bright, you might want to use some brown tones which are favorites of many people because there is a comfortable, earthy, "hominess" about them. Pink is a delicate, soft and feminine color and because it is essentially a pastel, pink should be used with another strong color to point it up, to bring out its pleasant tone.

But whatever your favorite color is, we can help you find it at our store and we will try to make it your favorite place to shop.

LOUANNE
HEATH'S
DATEBOOK

I note, by the calendar on the wall, that it is the time of year most of us will begin dieting a little so that we can fit into the chic summer clothes we hope to buy before vacation time rolls around.

To strengthen our wavering resolve all the conscientious women's organizations have been presenting fashion shows with the latest in resort wear being modeled by those infuriating women who have managed to keep trim through all of the fattening holidays. Last in the current crop of fashion shows, is the one being presented by the Ignatian Guild today on the University of San Francisco Campus.

Accent U.S.A. is being staged to help defray the expenses of outfitting a new high school which will soon replace the existing venerable St. Ignatius plant. For last minute information about the luncheon and show, call Mrs. Thomas Kearney, 564-7204 or Mrs. John Kearney, 564-7384.

Mrs. Jack Latz, chairman of the nursery arrangements for the Rivera-Olympia P-TA's House tour, has issued a reminder to young mothers that babysitting service will be provided, free of charge, for four guests in the Multi-Use room of Olympia School, 200 Northgate Avenue. The service, available for children three years old and up, will be offered between 1 and 4 p.m. on the day of the tour, April 16.

Mrs. Harold Wachter, 756-5174, will accept calls for reservations. Tickets, costing $2. per person, entitle the holder to refreshments, entree into a number of delightfully different homes, as well as the babysitting service.

Magic World is the theme of this year's parish festival being planned by the festival committee of Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church in Westlake.

Chuck Boerio is the general chairman of the event and he is assisted by Mrs. Richard Galliani, Gabe Adami, Bud McAniff and Ray Buechia, the floor chairmen.

In keeping with this year's imaginative theme, long-time parish member and artist extraordinaire Ed Cuevas will transform ordinary pieces of wood and cardboard into a fantasy of fairy tale and nursery rhyme figures and settings for the May 1, 2, 3 and 4 fun fair.

While Cuevas begins the intricate task of creating the decorations, Mrs. William Feeley has begun collecting hand finished linens from parishioners who wish to donate to the linen booth and Mrs. Peter Baestriji has issued a call for donations of canned goods to stock the shelves of the grocery booth. It is not too early to make a contribution to the festival's success, call one of the two ladies if you wish to begin helping now.

Mary Nordlund and Mrs. Rhoda Kellogg will be the honored guests at a reception commemorating the ninetieth anniversary of the Golden Gate Kindergarten Association on May 1.

Reception guests will assemble in the Phoebe A. Hearst Preschool Center in San Francisco to pay their respects to the honorees and to view an unusual collection of children's art which has been contributed by children from art classes in the Western Addition.

Localities who will be attending include Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rossi, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Righetti, Mrs. and Mrs. Howard Hardin, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ariani and Mr. and Mrs. Murray H. Freedman.

Don't forget it is time to clean out those bookshelves and contribute your used hard-back books as well as paper backs and records to the annual Daly City Friends of the Library Book Fair slated for May 9.

Mrs. William George reports that children's books, detective stories, technical books, cook books, text books and novels are great favorites of bargain hunters at the fair. All branches of the Daly City library will accept contributions but persons not able to take a special trip to the library may leave their donations, no magazines, please, at any Daly City Fire Station.

Money from the sale of the books is used to purchase special equipment and material for the local library, Mrs. George said.

Members of the Daly City Community Chorus will perform for the residents of San Francisco's Laguna Honda Home on Thursday evening, April 17, according to Mrs. Adela Zamora, publicity chairman for the group.

More than 70 persons attended the chorus's annual pot luck dinner and tasted a special Indonesian treat prepared by Fenna and Leonard of the Netherlands. Mrs. Janet Gilmore was chairman of the evenings arrangements and Mrs. Ellamae Schultz did the charming spring decorations.

Members of the chorus are currently preparing to sing and dine with the members of the Crocker Masonic Lodge in Daly City on April 28. Following the informal portion of the evening program the chorus will sing some of its very fine arrangements of several local favorites.

Anyone wishing to take part in the chorus is cordially invited to call Dennis Desjardins, director, any evening after 5:30 o'clock, at 756-7086.

Diet Time Is Here

TANYA ALBA, Kim Lydon, Lyn Gaggero and Deborah Nordberg will be among the many Village Elementary School students in Daly City who will be modeling their own fashions in a P-TA-sponsored "Sew and Show" event tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

Westlake Cub Pack 724 Donates Boxes of Candy

Westlake Cub Scout Pack 724 donated several boxes of candy in March to the San Francisco Youth Guidance Center for dependent and abandoned children.

Awards for the month of March were presented to Steven Omoto, engineer's pin; and to Joey Burlas and Bill George, Webelos colors.

Two new members were welcomed into the Pack and received their Bobcat pins, Greg Hardin and David Scott.

The candle ceremony was held for David Bashaw and Kevin Thorenson, as they received their arrow-of-life Webelos badge upon entering Boy Scouts.

The annual pinewood derby race, with 26 participants, was won by Bart Davies. Claiming second place was Dale Carlson.

Girl Scouts Sell Cookies —Three Varieties Offered

1969 Girl Scout cookies have a new face.

For the first time in San Francisco Bay Council there are three varieties — Scot-Teas, sugar topped shortbread; sandwich cremes, vanilla creme centers and minis; and vanilla cookies with mint flavored coating — in boxes twice the size.

Most troops need money, in addition to dues (some troops, 10 cents a week; others none, with children earning their own way) to carry out the various plans the girls make.

Each troop will receive 10 cents for each $1 box of cookies its members sell.

"It is important to realize that this is in no way a 'fair compensation' for the girls' effort nor is it meant to be," a Daly City Area Girl Scout Association official said. "It is an incentive bonus and a thank-you from the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council."

The spokesman continued: "A much greater part of the cookie profit goes to pay for year-round services and activities for all girls in the Council. The United Bay Area Crusade pay 41 per cent of the Council expense. Cookie sale funds last year covered 15 per cent. Camping fees, kept at a minimum, cover only the cost of summer operation."

Threatened Rain Doesn't Stop Chinatown Journey

Threatened rain did not dampen the spirit of the girls of Brownie troop 736 on their annual trip to Chinatown.

The Brownies at lunch in the Dragon Room of the YWCA, shopped in Chinatown and returned to Daly City for hot chocolate.

There also was a trip to the Maritime Museum, via cable car.

The girls were guests of the Dolphin Swimming and Boating Club; toured boating facilities; Diana Tisell, Carrie Moll, Carol Rickards, Yvette Vance, Susan Waite, Debbie

High Scout Award Given Kim Clark

Scouting's highest honor, the Eagle award, was recently conferred on Kim Clark, when a National Court of Honor was convened by executives from San Mateo County Council.

Explorer Post 129 and Troop 129 joined forces to honor Clark at a dinner attended by more than 200 parents and guests.

Tex Guess, Scout Executive, conducted the ceremonies, held in the Hope Lutheran Church, sponsor of both units.

Kim is a recent graduate of Westmoor High School, was a member of the Block W Society, and earned the Most Valuable Track Man award in his junior year. He is now President of the Post and has taken an active part in leadership of the unit.

To commemorate this occasion, the Post and Troop Committees have traditionally presented each new Eagle Scout with a beautifully engraved plaque. The honor of presenting this plaque goes to the man chosen by the honoree as the person most instrumental in assisting him attain this rank.

Post advisor George Brandt was pleased to make the presentation, and Kim also acknowledged the help of former Scoutmasters Bill Cloonan, Bill Pacifica Boy Scout Troop 258 recently honored three boys who received their Eagle Awards at the same time.

This was the first time for so many Eagles to be so honored at one time in the Portola District.

Scouts Douglas Fletcher, 16, a junior at Terra Nova High and a member of its swim team; Michael Johnson, 14, a freshman at Terra Nova and a member of the baseball team; and Raymond Lockwood, 15, a freshman at Terra Nova and a member of the track and field team, were the recipients of the Eagle Awards.

William Lockwood, assistant scoutmaster, was master of ceremonies.

Walter Otto, chairman of Portola District, and Gene Reagan, assistant Scout executive from San Mateo Council, were the main speakers.

Captain Ray Shipley made a special presentation from the Pacifica Police Department to each boy.

Scoutmaster Marvin Johnson made the actual presentation of the individual Eagle Awards.

An Eagle Plaque was given to Troop 258. It contains the names of the new Eagles, and will hang in St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church of Pacifica, the troop's sponsoring institution, as an inspiration to other boys.

During the regular Court of Honor other Scouts were given awards:

Indian Night Theme at Pack 37 Pow Wow

Indian night was the theme of the recent Pack 37 pack-meeting.

The Wacky Mohicans of den 3 was sung and danced by the braves.

It was written by Don Powers, formerly in den 3 and now working toward his Webelos showman activity badge.

Den 4 did a pantomime skit of Akela's life. The story of this big Chief of the Webelos was narrated by the den mother, Mary Jensen.

Den 5 sang an Indian Circle Song. Most of the cubs made their Indian costumes and artifacts such as beads, tom-toms, spears, and feather headdress.

Enjoying the spirit of things, many of the cubs had their faces painted for the council meeting, for the harvest festival, and for a war party.

Cubmaster Marv Jensen announced forthcoming plans for the Scout-O-Rama, the pack round-trip train ride to San Jose, and the second annual pack picnic.

Girls of Troop 973 Win Badges On Bridge Hike

Troop 973's "doings" have included the election of new troop officers and patrol leaders.

The officers are Maureen Zins and Carol Basilio.

Patrol leaders elected were Maureen Coen, Diana Maliano and Sherry Stiefvaer.

The hiking badge was achieved on a hike across Golden Gate Bridge on "Thinking Day," when scouts worldwide are remembered.

Lunch was eaten in Golden Gate Park.

Three mothers, Mary Ridge, Mary Coen and Ginger Boss, are working with half of the girls on the sewing badge.

The remaining girls are meeting with Leader Lila Wilson, working toward the Dabber badge.

The unit also participated in the Bike Road-e-o and an all-day bike hike.

Easter Egg Tree Given

The Ko-Ki Ta-Wan-Ka Camp Fire Girls group presented an Easter Egg Tree they made to the pediatrics ward of Mary's Help Hospital.

The girls are all fourth graders who attend F.D. Roosevelt, Thomas Edison and Abraham Lincoln schools in Daly City.

They decorated blown eggshells to give them a glazed effect and tied them to a manzanita branch to create the "tree."

The group leader is Mrs. Albert W. Fluehr, 86 Hillview Court; the assistant is Mrs. Richard Freund, 939 Skyline Drive; and the sponsor is Allyn Sliter, 21 Skyline Drive.

Dip Those Eggs, Boil That Water

Good morning, good cooks.

The first recipe for today uses chocolate easter bunnies and serves them with an exotic jelly bean sauce, garnished with hard cooked eggs. Sound exciting?

Ah well, it's good I don't have such a recipe, for if your home is like mine, the chocolate bunnies and jelly beans are long gone and only the hard cooked eggs remain.

Why is it we decorate so many eggs? Usually about three times as many as we can use. I think it's a matter of mistaken frugality, we simply have to use up all those little packets of dye. So like the Sorcerer's Apprentice, we boil and dip, boil and dip until we have a basket of beautifully decorated eggs, that won't be eaten.

Assuming you do the same dumb things I do, you now have a bowl of fancy eggs in the refrigerator. How to use them? Of course you can devil some, and make egg salad sandwiches and possibly con the children into eating a few, but how to use them up? Try this delightful dish.

SALMON WITH EGG SAUCE

2 lbs. fresh salmon steaks or filets
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
dash of pepper
a cup of milk
3 hard-cooked eggs

Cut the salmon into serving-size pieces and place in a wire basket or on a plate. If a plate is used, tie it in a piece of cheese cloth, which will prevent the fish from breaking up, and also makes it easier to remove the cooked fish.

Add three teaspoons salt to the two quarts water and bring to a boil. Lower the fish into the boiling water and simmer about 10 minutes or until it flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Remove fish to a hot platter and serve with egg sauce.

SAUCE

Melt the two tablespoons butter in a small saucepan, blend in the two tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt and the dash of pepper. Blend well and add the one cup milk gradually, cook stirring constantly, until thick and smooth.

Add three hard-cooked eggs, chopped and continue cooking over low heat until all is heated through.

Makes six servings.

Another way to use the hard-cooked eggs would be to slice about six into a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle a bit of salt and pepper and prepare the basic white sauce and pour it over the eggs. Sprinkle grated cheese over all and top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until the sauce bubbles.

Recently Barbara Thompson served this tasty ad eye appealing frosted sandwich for a luncheon. Barbara, who lives at 54 Westfield Avenue in Daly City, like these sandwiches especially because all the work can be done ahead and they create a sensation when served.

PARTY SANDWICHES

48 slices, day old bread, white and wheat
6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 can pimentos, chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/2 lb. ground cooked ham
3 med. sweet pickles, chopped

Cut the bread into large rounds. Set aside while you make the fillings.

Combine the six hard-cooked eggs with the can of pimentos, the one-half teaspoon salt and three tablespoons of the mayonnaise.

Next combine the half pound ground ham with the three chopped sweet pickles and the remaining three tablespoons mayonnaise and blend well.

Lightly butter 16 of the rounds of bread. Spread with the egg mixture. Spread the next 16 with the ham mixture. Place the ham round on top of the egg round and top with the remaining rounds. Press together.

Combine the large package of cream cheese with the three tablespoons cream and mix well.

Now you can frost with the creamed cheese and decorate the sandwiches. You may want to save a few slivers of the pimento to place on top with a slice of green stuffed olive, or set pitted ripe olive on top to crown the whole affair. Just be as creative as you wish, or can, or dare.

Served with a colorful molder salad this sandwiches makes a terrific luncheon dish.

The column is almost finished and there is nothing sweet in it. This dreadful condition cannot continue, there must be a dessert or cookie recipe that I can offer to finish off the day in a sweet way.

Fortunately my friend Mrs. Betty Feeley gave me a cookie recipe just recently that has long been a favorite with her family. Betty gave me the recipe right out of her files and there was no name on it. But I think they are called Starlight Surprise Cookies.

COOKIES

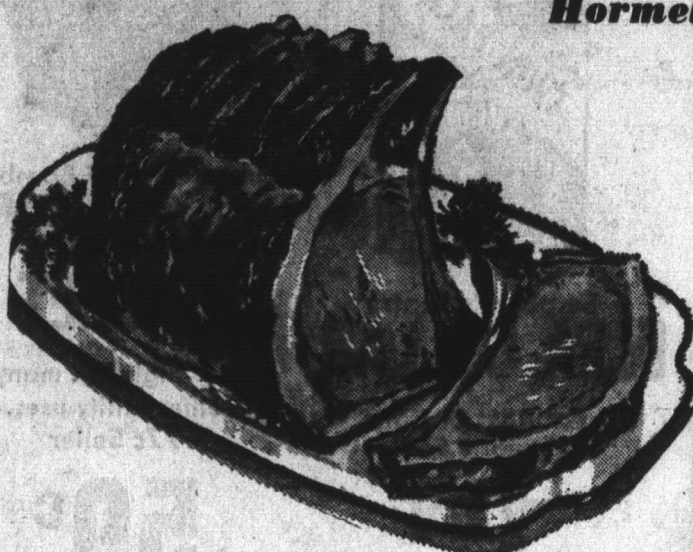

3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup margarine
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, unbeaten
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 package Mini Wafers

Sift together the three cups flour, one teaspoon soda and one-half teaspoon salt. Cream the one-half cup each butter and margarine. Add the one cup sugar and one-half cup brown sugar gradually and mix well. Stir in the two unbeaten eggs, two tablespoons water and one teaspoon vanilla. Beat well. Blend in the sifted ingredients and blend thoroughly. Place in refrigerator and chill at least five hours, or overnight.

Enclose a mint wafer in about a tablespoon of dough. Place about two inches apart on greased baking sheet. Place a half walnut on top of each. Bake in 375-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 4 1/2 dozen cookies.

Mrs. Dorothy George, president of the Friends of the Daly City Library has announced that plans are being made for the annual Book Fair May 10 in the Westlake Shopping Center mall.

This is the fifth year the Friends have sponsored the sale and plans call for an all out drive to make this year a really successful one.

Following past tradition, proceeds from this sale of books and records will be used to purchase a suitable gift for the Daly City Library.

Some of the gifts in past years have included sets of classics in large print for the visually handicapped, new albums for the library record collection, a new tape recorder for the use of the library, maps, and art prints.

The Friends were founded in 1956 as a non-profit organization to foster closer relations between the Daly City Library and local citizens.

Officers of the club are, in addition to Mrs. George, are vice president, Mrs. Marve Milton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Merle Josselyn; recording secretary, Mrs. Jane Powell; treasurer, Mrs. Frances Windhurst; hospitality, Mrs. Frank Greenwood; parliamentary, Mrs. Lincoln Walters; library commissioner, Mrs. Gertrude Kendree; directors, Bob Evans, Mrs. Don Monson, and Mrs. Richard Coltrell.

Residents of the area are asked to start saving books and records of all shapes and sizes to be deposited at the library and at the Daly City Firehouses at a date to be announced during April. At that time bins will be available for anyone to use in dropping off their donated books.

Not only books but volunteers are needed to collect the books from the pick-up places, price and categorize them, and help to man the booth on the day of the sale.

Anyone interested in assisting may leave their name with Librarian Samuel Chandler at the Westlake Library or contact Mrs. George.

Easter Dinner Set in San Bruno By Clubwomen

The San Bruno Women's Club will meet Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. for their Easter Dinner in the Old Firehall on San Mateo Avenue.

Delegates to the recent Golden Gate District Women's Club convention at the Villa Chatter in San Mateo, were Rena Le Roux, president; Freda Del Orto, vice president; Marie Furtado and Agnes Lawrence, delegates.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Warm Weather Cause For Park Avenue Rush

"Entertainment the Nevada Way" is the message. These warm days and nights have caused a "stampede" to the Park Avenue Tours offices. Those driving to Lake Tahoe (South Shore) and staying overnight can receive a total refund value of $10, which includes $6 cash, one dollar breakfast, and three cocktails per person. Say there are four adults in your car; each one is eligible for the refund value. Didn't know there was a place this side of San Francisco featuring home-delivered full-course Italian dinners. That is, not until Jack and Babe Romeo started doing just this at their Third Avenue Romeo's restaurant. Twenty-two varieties of pizzas are also available for home delivery — hot and ready to serve. The Romeos are new in San Mateo. Drop in and say hello.

The Kabuki Theater-Restaurant, San Francisco's newest attraction, offers an exotic evening of entertainment. Continental dinner a la carte, dancing to Vincent Ruffi and Orchestra, and a hands-across-the-sea flag waving finale by the 75 all-girl NKB revue. For reservations call 822-6000.

Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk dined at Scotty Campbell's, the other evening, and petite co-owner Mary Lou Francis supervised the serving in the usual red carpet fashion. Names in the news make it a point to seek out this famous Redwood City restaurant, which features exceptional food and displays an array of interesting artifacts and antiques. Good news at King's Chicken (located in the College Plaza Shopping Center): Their "Family Bucket" of chicken, which is regularly priced at $3.95, is now being offered for just $2.95. That flaxen-haired lassie draped in a full-length mink coat seen dining at Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant, the other eve, was none other than Margie Brandon, "Miss Happiness" of the Hammond organ, who entertains at Baron's Lounge (O'Farrell and Powell, San Francisco). Les Malloy and his lovely wife have "found" the Palo Alto Shirt-tail restaurant. Fact is, the Malloys enjoyed their dinner so much, Les passed the word along via his KPLX San Jose radio station.

Byron and Howard have all but packed their traveling bags in preparation for their Las Vegas show with Rosemary Clooney. Meanwhile, the comedy duo still performs at the Purple Onion. "We're so attached to this place," says Byron, "we hate to leave in a way." "But," adds Howard, "We'll be back soon, because we love San Francisco." Doug Young, general manager of the International Inn restaurant, says banquet accommodations are in full swing, with reservations for wedding receptions and engagement parties coming into view. Phone far ahead for reservations to be sure you get the late and time desired. Ask for Doug's personal assistance in selecting your menu. Larry Bertolucci, owner of the South City restaurant of the same name, has fled the scene for a well-deserved two weeks' vacation. Business carries on in the capable hands of "Teddy," the maitre d', who is busy booking parties for the fabulous Mediterranean Room.

Judy Llewellyn is the pretty young girl in the mini-skirt who has been sticking up sandwiches for patrons at A. Sabella's at Fisherman's Wharf. Owner Lucien Sabella claims that for every patron who actually wants a sandwich, there are four others here just for the "scenery." With trout season growing closer, Vern Coenenberg, "ram rod" at the Black Angus Chuck Wagon spread, finds it difficult to keep his mind on business. Vern owns a beautiful site just out of Nevada City, California, on the upper Wolf Creek. Enrico Romano is still planning to remodel his Romano's Italian restaurant at Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, in the very near future. He urges one and all to try one of his mouth-watering pizzas. As the ad says, "Out of this world." If you thought Edith Lehr's smile looked a bit different a few night ago, here's why: in her rush to get to their restaurant in San Francisco Marina, Edith reached for toothpaste and got hubby Lew's hair shampoo instead. Hours later, Edith still felt like she was blowing bubbles.

For the latest in banquet facilities, Dave Rasmussen's new Banquet Room in The Shadows of San Mateo represents an investment of $150,000. All types of food are available, including The Shadows famous German and conventional menus. Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor-Restaurant, located in Borel Square, San Mateo, is now open and serving. Stop in for a new thrill in the "sweet" line. Taste tip of the week: the Irifune Oniokase Dinner, which will delight the entire family. Columbia recording star, John Davidson, who is currently appearing in the Fairmont's Venetian Room, is an expert horseman. Owner of a two-acre ranch in Hidden Hills, Davidson does most of his riding horseback or motorcycle.

BRIGHT LIGHTS
BY LLOYD JOHNSON
Fork 'n' Cork Presents
Dave Dodd at the Organ

Seems like old times at the Fork 'n' Cork: Dave Dodd, a popular organist back in the days when the Peninsula skyline didn't include more than a handful of restaurants and clubs, is back on the musical scene playing request tunes at the piano bar of the refurbished Fork 'n' Cork Wednesday through Saturday, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Luncheon and dinner served daily except Sunday; outside catering is also available. Vince Russo, genial owner of Russo's in Daly City, hosted a dinner party to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of Silvia and Lee Disernia, while another dinner party was going on in the Monte Carlo Room for "Parents Without Partners." (You've heard of the Guys and Dolls Club? This is along the same line.) And a "ball" was had by all. Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco is within easy walking distance of 10 theaters, hence many theater-goers park their cars at Phil's door, dine, theater, and back with no wait to get their car.

Snow Trip For Youths

South Lake Tahoe's Sno Hill will be the destination for teen-agers only on Saturday, April 12, for a one-day excursion into snow country as part of activities planned by the South San Francisco Recreation and Parks Department.

A fee of $5.50 will cover the cost of round trip transportation, by chartered bus, from the Teen Center, Magnolia and Grand Avenues, to Sno Hill and return. Buses will make stops for breakfast and dinner on their way to and from Tahoe. An admission charge will be made at Sno Hill for full use of their facilities, which include saucers and toboggans.

Mrs. Ida Mae Davis of 334 First Avenue, Daly City, personnel technician, and Rudolph J. The citations were submitted by Postmaster Murphy and approved by the Post Office Department, for the outstanding work performance of both of the award winners. Mrs. Davis is a 15-year veteran of the postal service and Alholm is a 40-year veteran of the same office.

Non-Unification Costing Districts

The Jefferson elementary and high school districts have "lost" an estimated $995,537 since the 1966-67 school term by not being "unified," according to Bruno Fabbro, director of administrative services for the San Mateo County schools department.

The figure was presented Jefferson High School District at Supt. Edward Morgan's request, and represents, Fabbro said, a recomputation of the state principal apportionments for 1966-67 through 1968-69.

"Fabbro said he used the 'unified district' formula for county's three union high school district areas.

Citizens Aid Victim, Nab Theft Suspect

A San Francisco man was apprehended by two passing motorists in South San Francisco Wednesday after he allegedly attacked a 60-year-old woman and grabbed her purse.

Herbert Lee Reed, 41, was apprehended on Brentwood Drive after the purse snatching allegedly took place at the corner of El Camino Real and Spruce Avenue about 10:30 p.m.

Police said the woman screamed when her purse was grabbed, and two men in a passing car came to her assistance.

The men, who wished to remain unidentified, caught up with Reed in the 100 block of Brentwood, and held him until police came.

New Administrator At Mary's Help Hospital

On April 1 Rex Chase joined the hospital staff at Mary's Help as associate administrator of the hospital. Mr. Chase comes to this newly created position after serving as assistant administrator of O'Connor Hospital in San Jose for the past three years. Prior to that he was administrative resident at Mount Zion Hospital & Medical Center.

In welcoming Chase to the hospital Sister Teresa, administrator, remarked, "It is our hope that an associate administrator will help to provide the administrative continuity that is essential for effective operation of a hospital today. By releasing some of the many duties and responsibilities previously absorbed by the administrator, more time can be spent in providing better planning, efficient-

PUTTING project together is Kay Sharkey, left, while Ruth Ottman prepares another batch of clay, soon to be flattened.

A GOOEY MESS is what appears to be shaping on potter wheel. But, in time Marilyn Carlton and Sharon Raumbanis will have created a form of more substance, at San Bruno teen-age ceramics class.

WHILE BONNIE Schultz (left) shapes freestyle project, Sue Brogski makes her first attempt at forming a head. It isn't as easy as it looks, they agree.

San Bruno Teens Overflow Night Classes in Ceramics

Ceramics is the first activity of the new Skyline Teen Center Committee in San Bruno.

An unexpected great interest in teen ceramics has attracted over 60 teen-age Crestmoor High student registrants.

The initial overflow registration for the Tuesday night class overtaxed Crestmoor High School's ceramic studio, 50 enthusiasts were encouraged to set up a Thursday night class in the Art Studio of the War Memorial Recreation Center in San Bruno, explains Michael Kiely, San Bruno's Recreation Superintendent.

These classes are under way — conducted by a volunteer, Crestmoor High student Marilyn Carlton of 2450 Toyon Way.

The ceramics classes resulted from interest created in ceramics in the classes offered by the art department of Crestmoor High School under Robert Wait.

No extra-curricular opportunity to indulge their ceramic's interest had existed prior to the organization of this cooperative Skyline Teen Center effort, Kiely says.

The Skyline Teen Center Committee came into being as the result of the noon-time discussion group efforts of Crestmoor High students, under the leadership of senior Marsha Sanders, 675 Cedar Avenue, San Bruno. The committee dedicated itself to working out of youth's leisure problems by youth action.

Their first goal, Kiely recalls, was a center for youth located near the homes of Rollingwood and Crestmoor students attending Crestmoor High.

They approached the San Bruno city council and discussed the possible conversion of a Civil Defense building on Sneath Lane as a possible solution.

The San Bruno City Council is studying the possibility of such conversion, which could cost almost $9,000.

Realizing the enthusiasm and willingness to work on the part of these youth leaders, the City Council appointed two councilmen as their representatives to work with the committee. They are Maurice Hamilton and George Corey.

The ceramics classes were the first action in this cooperative effort.

In the recent March 27-29 joint City of San Bruno-Mainliner Theater Guild production of "The Madwoman of Chailot," the group distributed 8,000 handbills door-to-door, made 200 posters and sold 160 tickets throughout the community. Other activities are scheduled to begin after Easter.

Wednesday night discussion groups led by Councilman Hamilton, are scheduled to be held in the Crestmoor High cafeteria starting Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m.

The Rollingwood Homeowners' Association has granted the group the use of its Rollingwood Recreation Center from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays for organized, supervised teen activities.

To be scheduled at that center at a later date are such activities as tutoring, literary readings, low organized games, and drama workshop.

Contemplated for future Sunday afternoons are youth band practices and concerts in the multipurpose room of Engvall Intermediate School located at Sneath Lane and Junipero Serra Boulevard, Kiely says.

This program is being made possible through the cooperation of the Crestmoor High School, the San Bruno Park School District, the City of San Bruno, the Rollingwood Homeowners' Association and the Skyline Youth Center Committee.

Existing facilities in the community are being made available to youth while the possibility of the youth center is being studied by the City of San Bruno.

Air Collision Prevention

A certain number of automobile crashes seem inevitable in a land with a hundred million vehicles, therefore it is not surprising that with the growth of aviation a similar problem should arise. Except at metropolitan airports, the skies are not yet crowded, but there are increasing cases of collisions between planes in the air.

Last year there were 39 air crashes, three involving airliners. In 1967, there were 27 air collisions, three also involving airliners. The remainder involved general aviation or military aircraft.

Researchers have been working on anti-collision devices for 15 years, but none is operational as yet. The Federal Aviation Agency, however, has signed a two-year contract with the Air Transport Association, which represents the major airlines, to help test systems designed to prevent air collisions.

Although it appears likely that within that period an operational device will be developed for commercial airliners, industry spokesmen caution that its cost may be prohibitive for smaller, general aircraft.

Since the smaller craft are already involved in most collisions, perhaps the time is not far off when they too will be similarly equipped. The age of aviation is still in its infancy.

Now is the time to get a head start on a solid safety program for all aircraft, large or small.

Master of Suspense

Henri-Georges Clouzot has only made one film every seven years, but they'll be long remembered and stand as classic horror-suspense films.

He made "Diabolique" (Simone Signoret and his late wife Vera Clouzot) with the profits from "Wages of Fear" to avoid paying high income taxes in France. The second film grossed $5 million on a $200,000 dollar investment and he was obliged to pay the taxes after all.

Seven years later he made "La Verite" with Brigitte Bardot and it further damaged his health, having suffered a mental breakdown and a series of heart attacks when his wife Vera died in 1960.

"I had accepted a deal with Columbia Pictures to do a film with Frank Sinatra and Miss Bardot," the 61 year old veteran filmmaker told us at Trader Vic's last week. "But the two met in an airport, didn't like each other and refused to co-star in a film. So I wrote a script for her and Raul Levy based on the true story of a convicted murderer, Pauline Duboisson."

His opinion of the blonde sex goddess is that "she is a real actress."

The Chilling Themes

Now seven years later, Clouzot, whose name has become synonymous with chilling themes, has made "La Prisonniere," a study in sexual perversion (voyeurism) that has much the same mood and tempo as "Blowup."

"I conceived of the idea when a young model I was interviewing told me there are 50,000 women in Paris who pose nude for photographers and will submit to their will and requests. I've since discovered there are 100,000 in London and 350,000 in Los Angeles."

The film was made against doctor's orders but he had some relief against pressure during the two-month general strike in Paris last year when everyone stopped working and the director vacationed in Holland.

The master of suspense contends he is "too much of a Catholic to make a dirty picture. Mine deals with the lack of love and how it destroys people."

Of his two earlier successes he says he was very surprised at the success of "Diabolique." The "Wages of Fear" was not filmed in Brazil but in France. He'd spent six months in Brazil, working on an anthropological study but couldn't get cooperation from the Brazilian government because they only wanted him to make a film showing the beauties of the country.

A Brazilian Setting

So he sent his crew back to France, bought a novel about nitro-glycerin pirates and made it in his native country with a Brazilian setting.

"I often start with the shape of a film, not a plot or a theme. In Prisonniere I wrote all the characters to play off each other. None of them represent my feelings on the subject except the overall moral is that as soon as you reject love and treat a person as a thing, you are doomed."

If he were to make another film in the United States, he'd like to work with Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton or Mia Farrow, who he feels is "very contemporary."

Another Jury Probe Due?

ANOTHER INVESTIGATION — Watch for another Grand Jury investigation to hit Brisbane. And soon! This one will knock another department head off the rolls, Our Source informs.

APRIL THE FOURTH CAME and went and no hint of an earthquake. But don't forget what those other quacks predicted — Disasterville on April 18. Personally, I've been hit by an earthquake weekly since I was 21 years old.

BARTD AIN'T KIDDING — The new found monies ($150 million of them) that BARTD just received is not "extra" loot that can be tossed around just anywhere. The passage was made clear by legislators: to complete the system as originally planned.

That simply means they have not changed their stand on Daly City's terminus station. Quite the contrary, they (BARTD officials) are now planning to grab the old muni bus-trolley lot near their Balboa Park station. Not an idle threat they claim.

The Balboa station is easily reached from several thoroughfares. And best of all (same official says) the mile-plus-tracks between up to the San Mateo County line can be used for parking trains between rush hours.

ALL THAT DIGGING beind the Cypress Hills Golf Course is for a new, modern 70-acre mobile home park.

AND AT LEAST TWO cemeteries are undergoing a massive expansion program. Question now on lotsa people's lips is: Howcum they get off tax free? Cemeteries are one of the biggest moneymakers in the country. Time for a re-evaluation by our legislators. Hello, Hello, is anyone listening in Sacramento (Or SSF?)

OUR MISGUIDED YOUTH and the officials who guide them back to the straight and narrow are desperately searching for space to conduct their sessions in Daly City.

The county has ruled out use of the refurbished Wellington Avenue court house because of the already heavy court schedule. And Daly City fathers have ruled out use of the council chambers in the City Hall because, they say, it conflicts with some of their own schedules. Soooo, they are looking. Perhaps the county should build a new branch facility here? Or is that asking too much?

MEANWHILE, Daly City officials have okayed use of the same chambers by the Jeff High School Board to conduct their meetings — on Tuesdays.

LATEST GIMMICK EMPLOYED by mail order-smutmongers is the cover envelop "warning" which informs people not to open the letter unless they are interested in "adult merchandise." The merchandise is usually nude movies costing anywhere from $25 (8mm) to $100 (color).

There isn't anything the post office department can do about this crap. The mailer has warned the public to simply put "refused" on the envelop and his (or her) name will be taken off the mailing list.

The mail flooding the North County these days is complete with illustrations. In the old days they called such stuff "pornography."

Nowadays, the peddlers (thanks to recent court rulings) call it "art." We wonder why they don't hang the stuff in museums if it's art. Or better yet, hang the guy that sells it!

ANGELA SMITH, left, rolls out the clay, just like cookie dough, biting her lip as she attempts to get clay evenly distributed. Liz Mezel, her flattening project completed, now shapes it into "something," while Mike Kiely, San Bruno recreation superintendent, supervises classes for the program taught by Marilyn Carlton. The Emblem of Our Unity!

To the question of whether to salute the flag or not, I offer a quotation from Woodrow Wilson and a few comments of my own.

In his 1917 Flag Day message, President Wilson said, "This flag, which we honor and under which we serve, is the emblem of our unity, our power, our thought and purpose as a nation. It has no other character than that which we give it from generation to generation. The choices are ours. It floats in majestic silence above the hosts that execute those choices."

THE FLAG is what we choose to make it.

The peace marchers in Alabama chose to make it a symbol of civil equality and proudly they marched under its banner to win a battle against the forces of injustice. To refuse to salute the flag is to dishonor their purpose.

The flag waved over the Supreme Court when it struck down the bastions of segregation in the schools, on buses, and in restaurants. Although these decisions came a hundred years late, they came and one writer called them part of a revolution against the injustice of previous generations.

To refuse to salute the flag is to forget that the flag represents the concepts of the Supreme Court and of the people who are ready to follow its lead.

Let he who would not salute the flag look upon the words of Justice Black. "It is important that the state not exercise its power in an arbitrary or discriminatory manner nor in such way as to impinge the freedom of political expression or association."

THE FLAG is what you choose to make it.

Let he who would not salute it during the present period of the civil rights drive and he who would perpetuate the injustice, and he who would dwell on the injustice he sees — for it is still there — enter the drive for equality under the flag, learn the truth spoken by Justice Harlan, grandfather of the present justice and join with other Americans who believe that liberty and justice can be achieved:

"The destinies of the two races (black and white) in this country, are indissolubly linked together, and the interests of both require that the common government of all shall not permit the seeds of race hate to be planted under the sanction of law."

These words are in the great tradition of America's finest democratic ideals. They cannot be achieved by deprecating the country or the flag that waves as a symbol of those ideals.

120 MPH Chase in Dad's Car

A wild chase of a car with 15-year-old at the wheel ended in South San Francisco on Monday when the youth, after several narrow escapes, finally lost control and the auto crashed into a fence on Bayside Freeway.

Highway Patrolmen Michael E. Nelson said the chase started

San Bruno Leaps From Golden Gate

A San Bruno man, whose estranged wife alleged he had choked her into unconsciousness and slashed her wrists following an argument, apparently became the 361st Golden Gate Bridge suicide Sunday.

Witnesses told Highway Patrolmen they had seen a man jump from the bridge, and the 1968 car owned by the apparent victim, 22-year-old Michael James Dalton was found parked on the bridge.

San Bruno police disclosed that Nancy Lynn Dalton, also 22, alleged that Dalton had assaulted her after an argument in her apartment at 525 Huntington, San Bruno, Saturday.

The woman said her husband had choked her into unconsciousness and had cut her wrists. She told police she had gone to Peninsula Hospital for treatment after the 6:40 p.m. incident.

San Bruno authorities said police had been called to the Huntington Avenue address at least once before because of the Dalton's domestic problems.

Screaming Teen-ager Is Removed

A kicking, screaming, biting 17-year-old girl was taken into custody in a Daly City high school Monday.

Police said the student appeared to be under the influence of a drug and remained quiet when they escorted her from the school.

Shortly after, enroute to the station, she began cursing the police and bit officer Charley Munday on the left arm, police report.

It required two husky policemen to restrain the child girl. Before she could be led off to a confinement cell, the girl sank her teeth into the arm of officer Richard Brewer, police said.

Brewer was treated at Kaiser Hospital. The girl was taken to San Mateo County General Hospital for treatment.

Forgotten Paint Puts Dent in Oven

A can of lacquer left in an oven to "dry out" exploded in a San Bruno home Monday and sprayed burning liquid over the kitchen, firemen reported.

A fire department spokesman said the spray can exploded about 5 p.m. when Mrs. Dorothy Drew, 763 Olive Court, opened the door of the pre-heated oven to "cook the lasagna."

Firemen said Mrs. Drew's husband placed the can in the oven Sunday "to dry out the spout" and forgot to remove it.

Mrs. Drew was not injured, and damages to the house were described as minor, though there was "quite a dent in the oven."

Heads CSM Committee

Arthur Elliott of South San Francisco will be chairman of new citizens advisory committee on minority programs appointed by San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees.

The other members include Mrs. Norman Bernie, Hillsborough; Mr. Victor Gonzales, Redwood City; Vice Mayor Samuel Halsted, Portola Valley; Mrs. Hiroshi Ito, San Mateo; Melvin Lane, Atherton; Orville Luster, South San Francisco; Mayor Bernard Lycett, Daly City; Horace Marshall, Belmont; Elbert Mitchell, East Palo Alto; Mrs. Eliza Nelson, San Mateo; Fernando Vega, Redwood City; and Fred Yam, San Mateo. Mrs. Manuel Johns of San Bruno also serves on the committee.

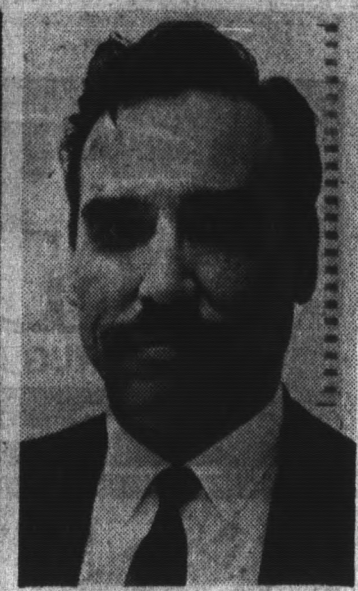

Elliott was elected chairman at the committee's first meeting, director of counseling and guidance for San Mateo Institute, also is active in the Mexican-American Political Association. A native of Mexico, he is a predoctoral center in Oakland.
